ExxonMobil Presents Checks to Wyoming State Forestry Division and Wyoming Project Learning Tree

ExxonMobil Representative, Brandy Johnston, recently presented checks for $5,000 to Wyoming State Forestry Division (WSFD) and $3,000 to Wyoming Project Learning Tree (WyPLT). Exxon Mobil supports programs that encourage teachers, students and communities to take an active interest in their natural resources. Since 1990, ExxonMobil has been a consistent partner with WSFD and WyPLT.

“WyPLT assists teachers in bringing nature to the classroom and challenges children to better understand the many natural environments that make Wyoming so unique” said State Forester, Bill Crapser. “To be able to partner with WyPLT and Exxon Mobil who have similar visions not only stretches limited funds, but allows us to reach a larger audience and to better serve the residents of Wyoming.”

WyPLT will use their funds to provide educators the training and curriculum to teach students about the areas of forestry, wildlife, water quality, community planning, waste management and energy. WSFD will continue to fund forestry projects across the state, including community tree plantings, living snow fence projects and outreach programs to assist citizens in caring for their trees and managing their forested lands.

For more information, please visit WSFD’s website at <http://lands.state.wy.us> or WyPLT at <http://www.wyomingplt.org/Default.aspx>
